Ancient Philosophy Society
Xth Annual Meeting 22-25 April 2010
Michigan State University

Fibonacci in Plato's Cave, bronze: David James Parsons
photo: Kitty Leaken

The Ancient Philosophy Society was established to provide a forum for diverse scholarship on ancient Greek and Roman texts. Honoring the richness of the American and European philosophical traditions, the society supports phenomenological, postmodern, Anglo-American, Straussian, hermeneutic, Tübingen School, psychoanalytic, and feminist interpretations of ancient Greek and Roman philosophical and literary works. Within the larger aim of assessing the meaning and significance of ancient texts, the society is intended to serve as a site for critical engagement among these various schools of interpretation and to encourage creative and rigorous independent readings.

Keynote Speakers

Catherine Heldt Zuckert
Nancy Reeves Dreux Professor of Political Science
University of Notre Dame
"Two Platonic Paradigms of Philosophy: Socrates and Timaeus"

and

Thomas M. Tuozzo
University of Kansas Department of Philosophy
"How Dynamic is Aristotle's Efficient Cause?"

Call for Papers

Papers in English on any topic in ancient Greek and Roman philosophy are invited: 3,000-word maximum, prepared for blind review. Before submission by e-mail attachment, see full instructions at www.ancientphilosophysociety.org

Submission deadline: Monday 2 November 2009. Decisions will be reported by the end of December. Inquiries and submissions should be directed to submissions@ancientphilosophysociety.org